Page 4: SECTION A: DEVELOPMENT COOPERATION PRIORITIES

Q4

If yes, does your South-South cooperation strategy(ies) or policy(ies) include trade priorities? Explanatory notes: The India-Africa Framework for Strategic Cooperation states that expanded trade and economic ties would further contribute to sustainable growth and economic development in both sides [...] and seeks to accelerate trade between Africa and India [...]" The policy paper outlines various ways in which trade priorities will be advanced.

Other (please specify),

Additional information on your South-South development cooperation strategy(ies) or policy(ies) trade priorities.: In the International Development Cooperation Strategy of AGCID 2023-2026, Economic Cooperation for Development is presented as a priority area. The aim is to collaborate in advancing towards an inclusive, circular, and transformative economy that contributes to the creation of better living conditions. This involves addressing, among other things, the rights to education, health, water, sanitation, social protection, food security, and the fight against climate change. Cooperation is sought within the framework of bilateral and regional agreements that promote trade and innovation, sustainable development, regional economic integration, and facilitate the participation and inclusion of vulnerable sectors in national development strategies. The promotion of technical assistance related to inclusive and sustainable economic development, fair trade, productive promotion, value addition, and capacity development in these areas is emphasized.
